WILL HAVE NO CABARET

Friends of New Owners Gather to Wish Them Good Luck in Venture.

J., and the Allenhurst Club in Allenthey expect to make the Claridge as different from the old Rector's as it is ossible to make one hotel from another It is to be, or at least so the manage ment hones, neither excessively expensive nor excessively gay. In a word it is to be a family hotel with all of the modern dvantages that go with the better estab lishments so described.

With that end in view the new lessees have refitted the restaurant entirely, left the lobby as it was and made certain decorative alterations in the private din-

Like London's Hotel Claridge.

So last night those who went to help Messrs. Hill & Crandall baptize their new hostelry found themselves dining in a restaurant not unlike that of the Hotel Claridge in London, after which New York's Hotel Claridge is named. The dec-orations—the color scheme is black and gold—are after the French Renaissance. The ceiling painting which used to look down at diners has given way to black lattice work and stained glass showing a number of aeroplanes flying into a sunset. number of aeroplanes flying into a sunset.

The lounge seemed to Attract as much interest last night as anything else that was new, it is separated from the dining room by a partition of dark oak and glass. Tables of sixteenth century Italian design stand in the middle of the lounge. There are a number of long divans and a great many chairs built for comfort.

Messays, Hill and Crandall say that they have provided this lounge for after dinner coffee and afternoon refreshments. There are a number of writing tables there and a complete supply of current English and American periodicals.

The old Broadway entrance has been torn down and the door walled up. Last night the lighting scheme was very much subdued, and it is to be so regularly. There is to be orchestral music for the dining 100m patrons, but no cabaret.

"I am convinced that we shall have suffrage in England in a few years. The women of the United States with their tremendous moral power will help us to get it. We shall have to get rid of the present Government in power, but that will not take long. It is even now tottering to its fall. When the Government goes out we shall get the vote.

Divorced Woman So Thought, Her Nephew Testifies.

Supreme Court Justice Giegerich granted a divorce yesterday to Thatcher H. Soule, head of a lubricating oil company at 2 Rector street, who lives at the Hotel Martinique, from Mrs. Mary G. Soule of 8 Baldwin street, East Orange, N. J. The chief witness against Mrs. Soule was her nephew. John A. Stewart, who testified that he and several detectives followed his aunt and Ernest J. Rogers, a hardware merchant, from Rochester to Burfalo on February 19 last, where they went to attend the meeting of the Hardware Dealers Association and registered at the Hotel Iroquois together.

"The next morning I met my aunt in the hotel and she toid me Mr. Rogers was such an amusing man," Stewart tesefied. "She said he woke her up in the middle of the night to seem him walk syourd the room on his hands."
